PIONEERS

"We named 'em Pioneers after the old NASA space probes. Someone here in the lab started calling 'em Pions as a cutesy nickname, and it stuck."

An Oral History of the 2320-2324 Pioneer War

In Pioneers, you fight to liberate the Solar System from the Pions, cybernetic beings who have already conquered the Earth and much of the Solar System, and nuked the Moon. You know, as one does.

Resistance Ops

You are part of the Rag-Tag Fugitive Resistance trying to free the Solar System from the clutches of its prodigal electronic children. With all the other players, you comprise a Resistance Cell that takes on missions, called Ops, that invariably involve blowing up lots and lots of Pions.

If you survive a deadly Op, the most you can hope for is a free drink in one of the underground Speakeasies frequented by the Resistance fighters; if you fail, the best you'll get is one of those drinks lifted in honor of your sacrifice.

Game Mechanics

You have three abilities: Thrust, Gyro, and Telemetry.

You use Thrust for direct actions - to solve problems that are best solved by an application of force, whether physical or mental.

Gyro is all about speed and balance. If it has to be done quickly, gracefully, or both, then you're going to make a Gyro roll.

Telemetry covers anything requiring knowledge, whether that's the specialized knowledge of a hacker or surgeon, or just general intelligence about the enemy's movement.

Dice Rolling

When you do an action, either in a fight or not, state which attribute you're using, then Roll a number of dice equal to your attribute. Check the highest number you rolled on one die against the following table:

On

- 1-2 The action fails and there's a consequence.
 - 3-4 The action succeeds but there's a complication.
 - 5-6 The action succeeds with no problems.

Resource Pools

In addition, you have three resource pools, Health, Impulse, and Kit.

Health tells you how much Harm you can take before dying; each hit by the enemy usually does 1 to 3 Harm.

Impulse is your energy, your drive, your momentum. You can spend Impulse to activate your Talents.

Kit is an abstract measure of how much gear you have. At the beginning of each Op, you can grab items from the Armory by spending some of your Kit; you can also spend Kit in the field, to represent items that you had on you but didn't want to slow the game down with time-consuming inventory tracking.

Character Creation

Character creation is dirt simple. Follow these steps and you're done.

1. Pick a Class.
2. Choose Your Home Colony.
3. Grab your Weapon.
4. Come up with a Name.
5. Snag a ship.

Class

"In retrospect, putting a map showing how to get back to Earth on those old-fashioned space probes probably wasn't the smartest idea."

An Oral History of the 2320-2324 Pioneer War

Your Class determines your starting attributes and pools, and gives you a choice of Talents. Pick a class from this list:

Apollo You're big, strong, and tough in a fight.

Mercury You're fast, agile, and hard to pin down.

Gemini You're smart, clever, and good with technology.

Soyuz You're a jack-of-all-trades who is pretty good at everything.

Earth Orbit

Earth is home to the vast majority of the human race, and is surrounded by large orbital colonies in Low Earth Orbit.

Luna is the second most populated colony and is primarily technological workers. It's also the communications hub of the Solar System ... or at least, it was.

Located in the La Grange 5 point, O'Neill Station is the largest orbital colony in the Solar System.

Opponents

"We were just trying to make them more like us - more human, with a range of simulated emotions. And that was the problem, we made them too much like us."

An Oral History of the 2320-2324 Pioneer War

Six classes of pions have been positively identified, although there may be more as yet unseen.

Cassini Diplomat

Mariner Troop transport

Rover Infantry

Ulysses Commander

Venera Air Support

Viking Marine

Cassini

The only pions who have verbally spoken with humans. Roughly humanoid, slender, eight feet tall, and with clear domes over their blinking cybernetic brains. They're the spokesrobots for the Occupation.

Health 5

Vulnerable pulse

Finger Lasers close, mid Harm 2, Burn

Moves Issue threats, call for help, strategic withdrawal

Mariner

The largest of the non-vessel Pions, they're less like individual robots and more like small shuttlecraft used as troop transports. Their rectangular bodies are the size of a large truck and have fore- and aft-facing cannons.

Health 20 (Ship-2)

Vulnerable explosive

Thunder Cannons mid, far Harm 4, Exploding

Moves Lift off, disgorge troops, hover precipitously

Rover

These pions are about the size of a large dog: their six wheels are made to fold inward, or extend to maneuver over obstacles. They're the rank-and-file infantry of the Occupation.

Health 4

Vulnerable explosive

Slugthrowers close, mid Harm 1

Moves Swarm the humans, obey orders, breach defenses

Ulysses

The Ulysses pions are the command-and-control leaders of pion ground forces, including the rovers and the vikings. They're shaped like six-legged mechanical spiders about the size of a small car, with sensors in all directions.

Health 7

Vulnerable pulse

Micro-scramjet Swarms all Harm 4,
Exploding

Moves Analyze tactics, coordinate troops, missile lock

Venera

Venera pions are the air support for ground operations, offering eye-in-the-sky intelligence reports to those on the ground. They look the most like old NASA probes of any pions, resembling armored viking orbiters.

Health 6

Vulnerable burn

Focused Microwave Pulse close, mid

Harm 2, Burn

Moves Transmit tactical telemetry, evasive maneuvers, crash and burn

Viking

The viking-class pions are the most feared by resistance fighters, as they're the heavy troopers of the Occupation. Reinforced weapon mounts surround a cylindrical central body mounted on 12 flexible legs of variegated size.

Health 9

Vulnerable nothing known

Overkill Onslaught close, mid Harm 5

Moves Take the beachhead, support mission objective, go down fighting

Ships

Ship Fights

Ship fights work exactly like normal fights, except that instead of using your character's Thrust, Gyro, or Telemetry, you use the ship's.

Preparing for the Mission

Travel Time

Obviously, the Solar System is huge. With realistic travel times, it could take years to get from one side of it to another. If the travel time ever matters, here are some approximate values you can use.

Travel between Earth and O'Neill Station takes 1d6 hours, as does travel between Earth and Luna.

For travel within the inner planets - Mercury to Mars - roll 1d6 for the travel time, in days. Add 2 days for travel to or from Ceres.

For travel from the inner planets to the outer planets, roll 1d6 days and add the base travel time from the table below.

Outer Planet	Base Travel Time
Jupiter	1 week
Saturn	2 weeks
Uranus	5 weeks (1 month)
Neptune	8 weeks (2 months)
Pluto	11 weeks (3 months)
Eris	19 weeks (4 months)

For travel between two outer planets, use the higher base travel time, plus 1d6 weeks.

Travel time between moons of the same outer planet takes 1d6 hours.
